Raffles Hotel

Expozice historických artefaktů

V jednom z obchodů v arkádě hotelu Raffles Hotel se nachází i expozice dobových fotografií, pohlednic, dokladů, jídelních lístků se vztahem k hotelu Raffles a okolí.

On 1 April 1867, Singapore, along with Malacca and Penang formed the Straits Settlements, under the British crown colony. Given the context, it is unsurprising that the Raffles Hotel marked significant British royal events. Amongst them, the Coronation of King George VI, the Silver Jubilee of His Majesty King George V and Her Majesty Queen Mary. The menu items seem to have been quirkily inspired by the spelling of the landmark events themselves. The 1932 New Year's Eve dinner menu, features the design of a girl looking at her cat, perched on the much needed wing for "Good Luck" for all. The context for this being the Great Depression, which was the worst economic downturn brought about by the stock market crash of October 1929. The impact on the British colonies was devastating and they were declared bankrupt by 1931. Fortunately, the Hotel survived and was incorporated in 1933 as Raffles Hotel Limited.
